PROGRAMMING FOR WOMEN’S HISTORY MONTH – MARCH 2015

Collaboration among Multicultural Affairs, Women’s Studies, the Feminist Alliance and the Women’s Center has provided for the following Women’s History Month programming.

March 3  Feminist Alliance Interviews
Their Roles on Campus and Their Programming for Women’s History Month and the Rest of the Semester, 11 PM, WESS Radio

March 16  Honest Conversations: Exercising Their Right, Women’s Role in Modern Day Activism
A group discussion about the role that women have played in activism in the past and present, and will play in the future, 7 PM, Shawnee Hall Lounge

March 18  Beyoncé: Feminist?
An in depth look into Beyoncé’s stance on women’s empowerment and how she essentially reclaimed the "F" word. There will also be a group discussion about the role of the Women's Rights Movement, the work that has been done in the past and the obstacles and opportunities moving forward, 7 PM, University Center Room 205

March 19  “Thought Talk,” 2 PM, Women’s Center
Questions Guiding the Discussion:
• What do you think sexual assault is?
• Do you know about the process for filing a report?
• Do you know about the different options that exist for victim help and support?
• Ways to prevent sexual assault (facts to show how frequent it is)

March 20  Annual ESU Dinner Party
A recreation of Judy Chicago’s art piece, ”The Dinner Party,” and her program where plates and placemats were made to honor remarkable women, 6 PM, Keystone Room

March 23  Drake: Too Soft for Men?
A group discussion about hip-hop’s influence on this generation and the meaning of masculinity. What happens when a male does not seem to fit the ideal image or embody the characteristics of a “manly man?” 7 PM, University Center Room 205

March 26  The Line
A personal documentary exploring sexual boundaries and consent. A cautionary story that is both provocative and engaging, the film is tool to start conversation, 2 – 3:45 PM, Beers Lecture Hall, 2 – 3:45 PM, Beers Lecture Hall

Communicate on Twitter with the Women’s Center: @ESUWomensCenter.

Look for more information in the ESU Events Calendar.