

Study Abroad in Turkey!
July 14 - August 11

All ESU students and visiting students in good standing are invited to study abroad in Turkey. This summer travel program is based at Anadolu University in the ancient city of Eskisehir. The itinerary includes tours of ancient ruins, as well as trips to Ankara and Bursa. The program will conclude with three days in Istanbul before returning to the United States. Dr. Zeytinoglu will teach CMST 348 Media Criticism, a course that develops a variety of methods for analyzing both the functions and the products of mass media. After examining the cultural contexts in which the media operate, the course will establish important critical methods and offer opportunities to apply these methods in critical practice. This course particularly will address and investigate the media and politics relationship especially around the case of the political activism during the summer of 2013. Prerequisite for the course can be waived if needed.

Program cost: $2,200, which includes roundtrip airfare, housing, most meals and ground transportation in both the U.S. and Turkey.

To learn more, please attend the following information session: February 27, 2 p.m., Monroe Hall 116.
