

Election 2016 - in Context

A Teach-In

Thursday December 1, 2016 -2-4pm
Abeloff Center

The Inclusion and Diversity Committee would like to invite you to continue the discussion regarding the election of 2016 in a scholarly context. Speakers include faculty members from across the campus including Andi McClanahan (Communications/Women's Studies), Adam McGlynn (Political Science), Storm Heter (Philosophy and Religious Studies), Matthew Simmons (PRIDE), Erin O'Donnell (History and Geography), and moderated by Shannon Frystak (History and Geography).

Students, faculty, and staff are encouraged to contribute to discussion after the brief scholarly presentations.