

Student Reflection

Symposium - Thurs. Nov. 6 @ 2PM

It is NOT a waste of time!

Participants integrate student reflection for learning & assessment in any subject that has a meaningful project.

Take Aways

- ▶ Identify best practices of student reflection to deepen learning
- ▶ Discuss uses of reflection including assessment
- ▶ Generate ideas and examples of ways to use reflection in courses

In a "University without walls," students engage in real projects that are nested within the community. Students address REAL problems. Therefore, students need to reflect on their learning because learning is more complex than can be measured on a traditional "test." In this symposium, panelists will share their tricks and give examples to help us all make learning more effective in our courses.

- ▶ Join Glenn Geiser-Getz and the panelists as we discuss student reflection. Panelists: Grant Rauch, Elaine Shuey; Chin Hu; Olivia Carducci; LuAnn Magnuson; Peng Zhang and Gene White

When: Thursday, November 6, 2014

Where: Lower Dansbury

Time: 2PM - 3:30PM

Other: Refreshments + good conversation + great ideas for engaging assessment = more meaningful learning
