PSED 571: Independent Research: Writers Workshop with the Northeastern PA Writing Project

Kathy Dekmar, NPWP Teacher Consultant, has 20 years experience using writing workshop in her middle school Reading and Social Studies classes. This summer course is designed to help other teachers discover ways that a writing workshop style classroom can work for them.

Come write, learn, and talk about

- Classroom set-up
- Conferencing (How do I do it? What are the other students doing?)
- Mini-lessons on narrative, informational, and persuasive styles of writing
- Managing the paper load
- Providing choice in writing assignments
- And more!

All teachers interested in writing are invited to join us!
