REED 565: Special Topics: Using Children's Literature to Integrate Reading, Writing and Social Studies

Linda Rogers is a Professor and noted author of the book, Shaped by the Standards: Geographic Literacy Through Children's Literature. She has constructed an integrated, hands-on curriculum that uses children's literature and interactive tools and writing activities to teach Social Studies. This summer course is designed to help teachers develop approaches for their own classroom as they try out the many ways to learn by doing.

Come write, learn, and talk about

- Picture books that teach social studies concepts
- Using read-aloud techniques with a variety of audiences
- Writing as a learning tool
- Reading and writing strategies that cross grade levels
- Integrating curriculum to enrich teaching and learning
- Hands-on activities that engage the body and the mind

All teachers interested in writing are invited to join us!
