YOUR PASSIONS Belong Here.

ESU offers 57 undergraduate degree programs that combine personalized faculty attention and hands-on, real-world experience.

ESU athletic training major, Genesis Gurrea, and Dr. Gerard Rozea, associate professor and chair of athletic training, at ESU's Anatomage Table, the most technically-advanced virtual dissection table for anatomy education. The table is used in the College of Health Sciences, particularly for anatomy and physiology courses and clinical classes. The table presents anatomy as a fully-interactive, life-sized touch screen experience.

The College of Education's Professional Development School (PDS) model has been nationally-recognized for its excellence by the National Association of Professional Development Schools (NAPDS). Through our PDS partnerships, ESU's teacher candidates are partnered with master teachers in the field representing 16 elementary and middle schools throughout Monroe and Northampton Counties.

College of Health Sciences graduates consistently achieve higher pass rates on certification and licensure exams than the national average. Our faculty are dedicated teachers and scholars who are passionate about their professions. Furthermore, our accredited programs offer students state-of-the art content and experiential learning unsurpassed by other health science programs in the region. The College of Health Sciences has developed partnerships with regional health care facilities and corporate partners that expand clinical experience opportunities for our students and provide key introductions to potential employers.

The University Honors Program is an academic program open to academically outstanding undergraduates and is tuition-free. Students pursue a series of customized classes, meetings and activities, and are rewarded with diverse intellectual experiences throughout their undergraduate careers.

Additionally, more than 200 freshman and transfer students enroll at ESU each year with the skills and abilities to succeed but without a clear idea of what they would like to study or what major to choose. The Department of Academic Enrichment and Learning (DAEL), which houses Exploratory Studies, provides a variety of services for students designed to assist them in determining a major that best suits their talents and interests while staying focused on graduating in four years.

Whatever your interests are, you will find a curriculum that challenges you and fosters critical thinking and a broad understanding of the world.

The College of Arts and Sciences provides students with extraordinary opportunities to pursue their passions, including an on-campus active learning facility in Art + Design that includes a student design agency where students create real-world design projects, and a fully-equipped 3-D design lab.

Or, look into our student-operated, noncommercial, FCC-licensed radio station located on campus; the Writing Studio that provides quality peer tutoring to students of all disciplines; and majors that boast active experiential learning at national venues or in numerous study abroad programs.

The College of Business and Management offers internship opportunities that provide students with experiential learning and practical experience. The College of Business and Management has unique and up-to-date facilities to support its programs, including the Bloomberg Finance Lab for real-time analysis of investment vehicles, and extensive facilities for television production, sound recording, photography, and web design.

The College of Education at ESU is nationally-accredited through the Council for the Accreditation of Educator Preparation (CAEP). CAEP represents the "Gold Standard" for teacher preparation programs and ensures that your training is recognized nationally for its excellence.

ESU RESIDENCE LIFE

Comfort, Convenience and Community

University residence halls are much more than places for students to sleep - they are communities where Warriors live, learn and build lifelong relationships. Here at ESU, we embrace opportunities where learning extends beyond the classroom. Our residence halls are hubs for academic and student life, providing an environment that supports student growth, the investment in shared community, and the commitment to living with people from different backgrounds and experiences.

Freshmen are guaranteed housing, primarily in the traditional residence halls where supportive staff and dedicated first-year experience programming promotes the successful transition to university life. Transfer students are also welcome to reside in our residence halls and are encouraged to register for housing on a space-available basis. Popular suite-style residence halls are also available to undergraduate students. The University Ridge and University Apartments offer apartment-style living with full kitchens and private bedrooms.

All students residing in the residence halls are strongly encouraged to participate in one of our Special Interest or Living Learning Communities, designed to create living spaces for individuals with shared academic or co-curricular interests.

WARRIOR PROMISE Tuition Guarantee.

We can help with the cost of your education...
...and we promise your tuition never goes up! New students seeking an undergraduate degree on ESU's main campus get a promise- the promise of a guaranteed, fixed, four-year tuition rate. The Warrior Promise guarantees incoming undergraduate students that they will pay the same tuition rate, without an increase, for the next four years.

Eighty-four percent of our students receive financial aid which includes grants, loans and scholarships. While scholarships are awarded on the basis of academic achievement, eligibility for financial aid programs (other than unsubsidized loans) is based on financial need, which is the difference between the estimated cost of attendance and the ability of the family to contribute to those educational costs as determined by the federal government.

The Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) is available beginning October 1. The priority ESU FAFSA submission date is January 31 for freshmen and March 1 for transfer students. To qualify for both need- and merit-based financial aid, you must submit your FAFSA at fafsa.gov. ESU's school code is 003320.
