East Stroudsburg University Commencement

Welcome to East Stroudsburg University's Commencement celebration for our graduates. Congratulations to our students who have completed their academic programs, and to their family and friends who have supported them on this journey.

Academic Procession

An usher will lead the faculty followed by the graduating students. Candidates are placed according to the degree to be conferred, and each group is preceded by a commencement marshal. Once all are seated the grand marshal leads the platform participants and the president.

Academic Attire

The tradition of academic costume began in the medieval universities of Europe where gowns were everyday dress, providing for their wearers not only distinction but, quite possibly, warmth during long hours of study in poorly heated buildings.

Today, academic attire is seen on American campuses only at formal affairs such as commencement, Founder's Day, dedications and inaugural ceremonies. In 1895, an Academic Costume Code was established, and has since been adopted by most of our colleges and universities. When the code is followed, one can identify the degree which the wearer holds, the university that awarded it, and the course of study it represents. The distinguishing features are the cut of the gown, the length and colors of the hood, and the color of the tassel on the cap.

The bachelor's and master's gowns are generally made of plain black cotton without trim, while the gown for the doctor's degree is faced with black or colored velvet and has three bars of the same material across the sleeves. The bachelor's gown has long open sleeves, the master's gown has longer closed sleeves with arm slits at the elbow, and the doctor's gown has bell-shaped sleeves extending to the wrist.

The hoods can be distinguished by both the length and color. The bachelor's hood measures three feet, the master's, three and one-half, and the doctor's, four. The color of the velvet edging, which is wider for degrees higher than the bachelor's, indicates the subject area to which the degree pertains. In addition to the colored edging, the hood shows in its lining the official color or colors of the institution which awarded the degree. The hood is worn such that a large part of the lining is visible.

The black mortarboard cap with tassel is worn with each type of gown. Those holding the doctorate wear gold tassels, while holders of the bachelor's and master's degrees generally wear a black tassel, although in recent years it has often been customary to wear the colored tassel symbolizing, like the hood, the subject area of the wearer's degree.

In nearly every academic procession, a few costumes may be seen which do not conform to the standard patterns described above. Gold braid is frequently added to the gowns of academic administrators, and most faculties include several members who hold degrees from foreign universities, some of which prescribe very colorful attire.

The following colors are associated with the various faculties. It is mandatory that they be used on hoods and optional that they be on the tassels and the velvet used with the doctor's gowns.

The Presidential Medallion

The medallion, or pectoral, has long been a symbol of the rights, authority, and power of kings and queens. At the inception of the university around the year 1000 A.D., and to this day in many European institutions, the reigning monarch still functions as the chancellor of the institution, its chief executive holding appointment as vice chancellor. With the establishment of the academy independent of the crown, the royal medallion has been retained as a symbol of the responsibilities and authority vested in the office of the president of the university by the state.

The East Stroudsburg University medallion was commissioned by the Student Activity Association in 1969, and first used by President Frank D. Sills at his inauguration. It was designed by Dr. Irene Mitchel, professor of art at East Stroudsburg University, and struck by Mr. Leslie Smith, an Allentown, Pa., craftsman. The chain of the pectoral was designed and crafted by Mr. Richard E. Phillips of East Stroudsburg, Pa.

The medallion has, on its obverse, the seal of the university. The seal is surrounded by the torch and the mace representing the light of learning and the authority of the university. These two symbols are superimposed on an abstract rendition of the Delaware Water Gap, so much a part of the geography of the region. On either side of the seal are representations of the original Stroud Hall (1893) and the current Koehler Fieldhouse (1967). Below the seal are the extended rays representing the fourteen institutions of the Pennsylvania State System of Higher Education.

The University Mace

The mace was originally a weapon of hand-to-hand combat in medieval times. With the advent of firearms, such a weapon became archaic and was adopted to symbolize the power and authority of kings and queens. Early in the history of the academy, the mace was borrowed from royalty and utilized to symbolize the authority of the institution given to it by the kings and queens and hence, the state, to grant baccalaureate and advanced degrees so specified. The mace is used at all official university functions of an academic nature.

The original East Stroudsburg University mace was commissioned by the ESU Alumni Association for the inauguration of President Frank D. Sills in 1969. It was designed and created by Mr. Richard E. Phillips, a local Pocono artisan. The redesigned mace, incorporating many features of the original mace and symbolizing the achievement of university status by East Stroudsburg State College, was commissioned by the University Commencement Committee in 1987. Mr. Phillips was again requested to modify the mace to reflect the transition from college to university, and Cherry Valley artisan Abby Porter completed the silver work. The current mace is made of cherry and is approximately 38 inches long. The mace has overlays made of hemlock, dating from 1893 from the original Stroud Hall. The black and red coloring represents the school colors.

The octagonal head of the mace represents the disciplines of the traditional academy, and four disciplines of contemporary higher education: science, arts, humanities, and philosophy. Surrounding the head are silver hands bearing the names and dates of the five precursor institutions. The handle is inset in silver with black onyx and red carnelian. The university seal crowns the mace.

Honors and Honor Cords

Those students in the baccalaureate degree program who have received scholastic honors are distinguished by colored cords, and their names are noted in the program with the proper number of asterisks as shown below. There are three scholastic honor categories:

- * Cum Laude (white/gold cords) for those possessing a 3.400 to 3.599 quality point average
- ** Magna Cum Laude (black/gold cords) for those with a quality point average of 3.600 to 3.799
- *** Summa Cum Laude (red/gold cords) for those who have maintained a quality point average of 3.800 or above

Quality points are based on a four-point system in which the grade A equals 4, A- equals 3.667, B+ equals 3.333, B equals 3.000, B- equals 2.667, C+ equals 2.333, C equals 2, C- equals 1.667 and D equals 1.000. Honor awards are based on the cumulative average of the entire undergraduate program taken by the student at East Stroudsburg University. Honor designations are translated from Latin to mean with honor, with great honor, and with highest honor.

University Honors Program

University Honors Program students who are graduating are wearing bright red stoles. These stoles are marked in gold with the English words “ESU Honors” on one side, and three Latin words on the other side: “Veritas,” “Et,” and “Civitas.” These three Latin words mean, in English, “truth and citizenship.” These Honors students have: maintained a high grade point average throughout their four years of undergraduate study; taken a prescribed set of Honors courses in addition to their regular coursework; and successfully submitted an Honors Thesis. University Honors Program graduates are recognized in the program with ★.

Kenneth Long
President

Kenneth Long was appointed president of East Stroudsburg University of Pennsylvania by the Board of Governors for Pennsylvania's State System of Higher Education, effective November 2, 2022, after serving more than two years as the interim president. Long brings more than 35 years of progressive experience in higher education to the position. Prior to the interim appointment, which began July 31, 2020, Long served as the university's chief administrative, financial, and operations officer. Among his many accomplishments at ESU, he has been responsible for: stabilizing the University's financial condition; increasing the University cash reserves and reducing capital debt; lowering costs and increasing availability and access to student health services by partnering with a regional medical center; initiating the university's first academic space utilization study; enhanced campus accessibility; coordinated the development of an athletic master plan and upgrading athletic facilities, including adding air conditioning and a generator in Koehler Fieldhouse, painting and branding Eiler-Martin Stadium, replacing the turf for all outdoor sports, and partnering with the local municipality and little league for baseball and softball facilities; coordinating the construction of a new student housing building which included new counseling and testing centers and the offices of the Dean of Student, Student Conduct, Accessibility Services and Title IX; and facilitated the land development plans for a new student center.

Prior to joining ESU, Long held leadership positions at two other Pennsylvania State System institutions, Kutztown and Cheyney universities. He served five years as assistant vice president of administration and finance at Kutztown University and during that time he worked six months as interim vice president for finance and administration at Cheyney University, in a loaned executive capacity. Long has served on a number of taskforces, committees and workgroups over his 14 years in the State System, including: Tuition Alignment Committee, System Appropriation Funding Review Committee, State of PA 529 Advisory Board, co-chaired the State System Budget and ESU Sports Alignment Taskforces, and Kutztown University General Education Committee.

Prior to coming to the Pennsylvania State System, Long held multiple leadership positions at the University of Toledo and University of Toledo Physician Practice Group and played an instrumental role in the merger of the University of Toledo with the Medical University of Ohio. Long started his career in higher education at DeVry University – New Jersey where he worked for 18 years beginning as an assistant director of the office of student accounts and working his way to the chief administrative and financial position of the New Jersey campus. As one the most senior administrative and financial officers in the northeast region, Long assisted with the opening and staffing of DeVry locations in New York, Florida, Pennsylvania and Virginia.

Long earned his bachelor's degree in math and political science from Drew University in Madison, N.J., and an M.B.A. from Monmouth University in West Long Branch, N.J. He has experience teaching college courses in business administration, financial accounting, and managerial accounting and statistics, and during his career has made numerous presentations at regional and national meetings and conferences. In 2013, Long was selected to serve on the Board of Directors for the Eastern Association of College and University Business Officers (EACUBO) and in 2017 he was selected as the association's treasurer, which he served until he was appointed ESU's president in 2022. While serving as interim president of ESU, Long was selected to serve as the chairperson of the PASSHE Freedom of Speech and Title VI Task Group and President Liaison for the PASSHE Board of Governor's Governance Committee, a role he continues to hold.

Long is married to Evelyn and has three daughters, Alysha, Peyton, and Taylor.

Susan Dillmuth-Miller, Au.D., CCC-A, FAAA, Grand Marshal University Senate President

Dr. Susan Dillmuth-Miller is an associate professor in the Department of Communication Sciences and Disorders. She is ESU's clinic audiologist and manages the on-campus audiology clinic. She serves as the president of the University Senate.

Dr. Miller teaches both undergraduate and graduate courses. She has presented internationally on the effects of rheumatic disease and hearing manifestations and has published articles pertaining to educational audiology. Scholarly endeavors include examining knowledge and attitudes of excessive noise levels and hearing protection in young adults and concussion and audiological characteristics. She advises the ESU Sign Language Club.

Randy Detrick '00
Keynote Speaker

You can have anything in life that you want, if you're willing to help enough other people get what they want. Randy Detrick, a 2000 East Stroudsburg University graduate with degrees in business administration and management and economics, lives his life by these words. His hero is his mom who's the most upbeat, positive, enthusiastic, and excited for life person he's ever known. Randy's mission is to add value to others. To fulfill this mission, Randy presents on topics of hope, trust, and enthusiasm for life. It all started with mom, giving him the advice to 'pursue all your dreams with all your imagination and to never let the false sense of fear interfere with your life'. Randy has had the honor to race the World Cup in ski racing, be the president of his own medical equipment business, and now is the president of the 13th-top-ranked winery in the nation – Blue Ridge Estate Vineyard & Winery.

Creativity in life is connecting the unseemly connectable dots. With this realization, Randy created The Underground Experience, a consistently sold-out presentation pairing wine with the most powerful topics of life. Randy has enthusiastically presented live over 9,000 times, and every day strives to add value to the world through a message of hope, trust, and excitement for life. Today, in his mid-40's, Randy lives on the farm at Blue Ridge Winery with his wonderful wife, Tiffany, and their three spectacular children.

Jorge Rojas '23
Student Commencement Speaker, morning ceremony
Sport Management major

Jorge Rojas, a graduating sport management student from Bethlehem, Pa., took an untraditional path the commencement speaker podium. After more than a decade in the workforce, Rojas found himself back in the classroom at Northampton Community College where he worked hard and found his path.

He transferred to ESU and majored in sport management. He got involved in campus activities, and became the president of the sport management club. Rojas found a way balancing school, family, and full-time work. As a first-generation college student, fulfilling not only his dream but the dream of his parents, Rojas believes in the power of education and encourages his peers to never stop learning.

Piper Langan '23
Student Commencement Speaker, afternoon ceremony
Middle Level Education major

Piper Langan, a graduating middle level education student from Cresco, Pa., is a natural leader and a committed ESU Warrior. She worked as a facility manager at the Mattioli Recreation Center and in the Writing Studio, she served as a resident advisor and was a peer mentor during her time at ESU.

Langan, a member of ESU's honors program, has been a member of the Kappa Delta Pi Education Honor Fraternity and was initiated to the Order of Omega Greek Honors Society in Fall 2021. She is a member of the Alpha Sigma Tau Sorority where she has served as the director of philanthropy. In this role, Langan has been responsible for raising money for Relay for Life, hosting food drives for local women's shelters and annual collection drives for Dress for Success, and raised money to send teddy bears to The Children's Hospital of Philadelphia. She has also helped to host other collections for female hygiene products to benefit those who may otherwise be without these necessary items.

The Alma Mater

Alma Mater, thy halls so majestically stand
In the midst of a landscape unique,
Through the seasons we toil with our bodies and minds
In pursuit of the wisdom we seek.
A mystical charm binds thy children to thee,
Each incoming class feels its spell;
Those who leave thee regretful thy beauties recall,
Which deep in their memories dwell.

(Patrick Conny, 1912)
