Virtual Presentation • esu.edu/communication

PANELISTS:

Dr. Victoria E. Thomas
*Frederick Douglass Institute
Communication Department*

Dr. Kristopher Weeks
*Assistant Professor
Communication Department*

Dr. Margaret Mullan
*Assistant Professor
Communication Department*

MODERATOR: Dr. Santiago Solis, Vice President, Campus Life & Inclusive Excellence

This panel provides a space for a conversation about anti-racist practices. This is a facilitated, interactive dialogue. Students are encouraged to ask questions!

We will critically discuss the importance of communicating across cultural differences. We will explore the difference between being non-racist and actively anti-racist.

We will also discuss creating steps for accountability, working to actively dismantle inequitable systems, and moving toward collective action.

We welcome you to come learn about diverse and inclusive practices to confront racism on campus, in the virtual world, and in your everyday life.

This program is co-sponsored by the Department of Communication and the Division of Campus Life & Inclusive Excellence.
