Announcements

Join ESU President Marcia G. Welsh, Ph.D. for a Special Exhibit in the Sterling Strauser Gallery, from 6 to 8 p.m., Saturday, November 15 in the ESU Innovation Center, located at 562 Independence Road, East Stroudsburg. The exhibit, titled "The Strauser Circle: Selected Works from the Robinson Family Collection," includes works of outsider artists from the private collection. The cost per person is $50 and pre-registration is recommended. All funds raised will go to support the Sterling Strauser Gallery, which is temporarily located in the Innovation Center but is proposed to be permanently housed in the future Keystone Center. The show will feature both a live and a silent auction of the artwork by various artists that evening. The event also will include entertainment, hors d'oeuvres, and beverages. For additional information, call Gwen Hughes, administrative support specialist for the Office of University Advancement, at 570-422-7000.

Films and the Environment – Films and Film Festivals as Vehicles for Social Change at 7 p.m., Tuesday, November 18 in Beers Lecture Hall. Nina Streich will discuss how film festivals play a role in bringing these films to a broader audience and the use of the medium of the motion picture to encourage public engagement. The Global Peace Film Festival, that was created and is run by Ms. Streich, is a leader in the field of social engagement film festivals. She will discuss the evolution of this film festival, now planning its thirteenth season, and the role of film festivals in bringing new films to the public – with a special focus on films on environmental issues, both fiction and non-fiction. For more information, contact Paul Lippert, Ph.D., professor of Communication Studies at 570-422-3482 or plippert@esu.edu.

NSSLHA Day by The ESU Chapter of National Student Speech-Language-Hearing Association from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m., Tuesday, November 18 in Stroud 113. Students from the club will be holding a bake sale and a membership meeting with a graduate student speaker on spelling and speech-language pathology. The evening will be celebrated with a "Friendsgiving Feast." The proceeds from the bake sale will go to Operation Smile, the international organization that provides cleft lip/palate surgeries for children from third world countries. The membership meeting is open to anyone interested in learning about spelling and speech and the relationship between both. The evening feast is open to all members who sign up for the event. For more information, contact Ann F. Millett, assistant professor and clinic director at the ESU Speech & Hearing Center, at 570-422-3304 or amillett@esu.edu.
