5. President's Report:

President Welsh reported students are nearing completion of the 4th week of classes for the Fall 2017 term and I think everyone I talk to mentions how busy it has been in comparison to prior semesters.

We had a great kickoff with the Warrior Induction and the opening of the new Sycamore Suites. Most impressive was the Way of the Warrior Walk and the sharing of what it means to be a Warrior. The academic convocation officially launched the semester and it has not slowed down since.

A group of volunteers completed 2 nights of our Good Neighbor Walk with 44 faculty, staff, administrators and students knocking on the doors of 541 neighbors. We are following up on all of the issues raised by our neighbors but, for the most part, we received positive feedback regarding our students and neighborhood pride in the University.

Significant work by Provost Bruno and Dr. Nancy Van Arsdale, and after a year hiatus, we redesigned our Distinguished Professors program and during the first all campus meeting of the year announced two new distinguished professors: Dr. Pat Smeaton from professional and secondary education, and Dr. Greg Dwyer from Exercise Science.

ESU hosted our 5th Economic Outlook Summit a couple weeks ago with a record crowd of over 290 people. Everyone in attendance agreed that it was the best conference yet, with interactive sessions, panel discussions with representatives from municipalities in Monroe County who are doing creative things to help with economic development, Q&A with Senator Scavello and Senator Blake on issues they consider priorities, and updates from the Monroe 2030 Action Team.

Representative Jack Rader Jr. was announced as ESU's 2017 Legislative Fellow.

A formal agreement with the Milton Hershey School that is to provide focused and sustained support to low-income, first generation college students from that school was announced.

Hispanic Heritage Month began with many wonderful cultural and educational events that will take place throughout campus.

Many of our students, faculty and staff are concerned following the hurricanes in Florida and Texas and so a lot of teachable moments as the faculty are turning concern into action with service learning projects and programs and many student organizations doing fund raising.

As the motto on Julia indicates, ESU's motto is "prepared to serve" and, not only is our campus community serving those in need around the country, they are also serving our own students. After a food security survey that demonstrated significant need, in partnership with St. Matthew's church on Ridgeway, ESU opened a food pantry that will be available of Fridays to help ESU students. The food pantry will be staffed by retired faculty who are also helping raise donations for the pantry. The positive response from students has shown us we have found a need.

President Welsh was delighted to inform the Trustees the 16" telescope in the observatory on the top of the SciTech building is now working and the Physics Department, specifically Dr. David Buckley, has been holding open house events to the public to view planets and stars, so please try to come with your families one evening and enjoy this incredible treasure.

Fall sports have begun with both wins and losses, and again our Women's Field Hockey team is ranked number one in the country...so they have a target on their back. We will keep you informed as the season continues but I think we all have high hopes for Warrior athletics.

Family Weekend will be held this coming weekend with a full schedule of event.
